I adhere to the points specified below:

16. The Public Examinations (Prevention of Unfair Means) Bill, 2024 was introduced in Lok Sabha on February 5, 2024. The Bill seeks to prevent the use of unfair means in public examinations. Public examinations refer to examinations conducted by authorities specified under the Schedule to the Bill or notified by the central government. These include: (i) Union Public Service Commission, (ii) Staff Selection Commission, (iii) Railway Recruitment Board, (iv) National Testing Agency, (v) Institute of Banking Personnel Selection, and (vi) Departments of the central government and their attached offices for recruitment.
17. Offences in relation to public examinations: The Bill defines several offences in relation to public examinations. It prohibits collusion or conspiracy to facilitate indulgence in any unfair means. It specifies unfair means to include: (i) unauthorized access or leakage of question paper or answer key, (ii) assisting a candidate during a public examination, (iii) tampering with computer network or resources, (iv) tampering with documents for shortlisting or finalizing of merit list or rank, and (v) conducting fake examination, issuing fake admit cards or offer letters to cheat, for monetary gain. It also prohibits: (i) disclosing exam-related confidential information before time, and (ii) unauthorized people from entering exam centers to create disruptions. The above offences will be punishable with imprisonment between three and five years, and a fine up to Rs 10 lakh.
18. Inquiry and investigation: All offences under the Bill will be cognizable, non-bailable, and non-compoundable. No action will count as an offence if it is proved that the accused had exercised due diligence. An officer not below the rank Deputy Superintendent or Assistant Commissioner of Police will investigate the offences under the Act. The central government may transfer the investigation to any central investigating agency.
